General Instructions

Before assembling model, study sketch carefully.
Important—Apply cement to inside surfaces only. Avoid getting cement on outer surfaces of model sections. Use cement very sparingly and avoid getting cement on hands, so as not to mar or smear plastic surfaces.
Do not hurry. Work carefully and patiently. Important Note: Before proceeding to cement parts together, it is advisable to fit parts together dry (without cement) so that you may familiarize yourself with the parts and how they go together, also noting the points where cement is to be applied.
For best results assemble model exactly in the order indicated.

ABOUT THE CREATURE

In the beginning of time evolution began in the oceans of the planet Earth. As the oceans receded continents sprung up and it was then, 150 million years ago, that a primeval creature lived. At least ten feet tall, it resembled nothing seen even in the most primitive areas of the world, a ghastly vision resembling neither fish nor human.

During Earth's many upheavals the Creature survived millions of years in suspended animation. And then, from the time of the ancient Greeks, tales of a dreadful sea monster came down through the centuries . . . tales attributed to the overactive imaginations of superstitious sailors.

A group of oceanographers exploring the Black Lagoon of the tropical Amazon in search of rare fish and plant life pulled up their fishing nets to find them hopelessly torn. From the forbidding depths of the water the creature of the legends arose, attacking the helpless divers. One diver, who had miraculously escaped, related the dreadful experience and plans for the Creature's capture were immediately drawn up.

Before anyone realized what was happening the Creature climbed into the boat and as the horrified crew watched him he captured a woman, dragging her to his underwater hideout. Elaborate thoughts of capture were abandoned as the remaining diver grabbed his spear gun, trailing the Creature to a rock wall which hid a crevasse opening into a cave, the underwater lair of the Creature.

Armed with pistols and rifles the other members of the group discovered an alternate route to the cave and entered, their eyes unaccustomed to the gloom. The rescuers scrambled over slippery rocks, disregarding warnings, and from around a hazardous boulder the Creature appeared. The men fired, pursuing it through the densely vegetated jungle.

It was fantastic that anything could have survived the barrage of bullets yet the Creature, undaunted, continued to the sea. Reports state the Creature was near death although witnesses who last perceived him would not confirm this account.
